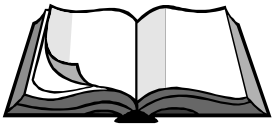
Homework Survey

Lesson Title: Bias Sampling



You are reporters, and the principal of your school has hired you to investigate homework time. Your principal wants to know how much time students should spend doing homework. Your job is to conduct a survey to find out what students, parents, and teachers think about homework time.

1. You want to find out what their opinion is about homework time. Class question:

2. You want to know why they think this. Class question:

3. You want to know what they think the principal's decision should be. Class question:

4. (For when you begin small group work) Who are you interviewing, students, parents or teachers?
